

Community Conference on Commons 2025

Be One with Communities Across the World!

The Community Conference on Commons 2025, which celebrates the stewards of the Commons, will be held virtually from December 10–12, 2025, during the World Commons Week.

We invite you to host or join a local screening of the Conference where you can gather your community, colleagues, or peers to watch the live sessions, interact with the speakers, and be a part of this collective dialogue on Commons

Who can organise the local screening?

Anyone interested can organise a local screening. We invite organisations and individuals to host screening of the Conference in their regions, workplaces, universities, or even community spaces to foster engagement, mutual learning and a wider reach of these community stories.

Who to invite?

Local screenings are open to everyone, especially community members, women leaders, local government functionaries, rural cadres, youths, students, and NGO representatives. Anyone who wishes to listen, learn, and engage in the dialogue on Commons is welcome to join.

Where to organise the event?

A place that is accessible to everyone such as a community hall, a school, Gram Panchayats, or even your village chaupal, etc.

How to organise a local screening?

Any individual or organisation interested in Commons can partner for a local screening of the conference.

A facilitator/team member/faculty will be required to actively oversee and facilitate engaging discussions during the local screening, to ensure a meaningful experience for all.

The facilitator may be supported by someone for documenting the event through reports and photographs. We encourage you to share these on your social media handles using #PromiseOfCommons #CommunityConference.

Equipment needed for the local screening:

- Laptop/Smart phone
- Stable Internet Connection
- A projector/TV
- Sound system for audio clarity

Feel free to incorporate anything else you think will make the screening more engaging like tea, water, snacks and some interesting discussions!

Will you be hosting a Local Screening?
